

Sustainable Event Professional Certification (SEPC)

20 – 22 February 2019

Bangkok, Thailand

Venue: To be confirmed

NEW PROGRAM, NEW STRATEGY

Sustainable events help to reduce the impact of events on the environment, can improve the financial outcomes for organizations and can support thriving communities. Using environmentally responsible practices reduces the consumption of resources and can position the event host organization as a responsible business.

Combining active learning and experiential elements, this program is designed to enable participants to implement their own sustainable events. Topics will include understanding the business value of sustainability for the events industry; practical solutions for improving your environmental performance in areas such as food & beverage, transportation, and supply chain management; and effective methods for achieving corporate social responsibility goals. As part of the program, the participants will customize a roadmap for their own sustainable event.

Registration is open!
